Developing the Next Generation of Leaders

The CorpU Emerging Leaders Program is an online leadership development program for early-career professionals and potential management candidates that teaches the skills, tools and habits utilized by successful leaders. Participants will be coached and guided through the six-month program by a seasoned Expert Guide knowledgeable in how to apply the research and learnings from the course in the workplace. Through our collaborative platform, participants learn with and from other emerging leaders in a discussion-rich environment focused on action-learning.

Individual Growth

Participants will explore core leadership concepts to lead themselves and others. They will learn to communicate their ideas more effectively, make better decisions, and negotiate more effectively with an eye toward developing the high-performance habits that characterize effective leaders.

Organizational Impact

The Emerging Leaders Program helps organizations identify and develop rising talent in a cost-effective way, which results in a strengthened leadership pipeline that promotes managers faster and retains employees longer.
